Becky.....

So in one of your announcements you said that you get an email of all your accounts if you say forgot password.

When I did that err.....

"This email address has been permanently blocked."

Why on earth is my email adress Permanetly Blocked???????

Thanks Galaxian, I just wished I remember what the heck my post was though (forgot to copy..). I always get so irritated if I write something good and Phil gets it for no apparant reason. NEW IDEA: Maybe we should have a "attempted forum post" history, so we don't lose all of our work?

@Legacy Whenever I put up a long post, whether RP or forum-related, I copy it xD. Also why I sign my post, so I remember to look it through. That sounds like a good idea...but if the filter's not letting it through because of the content, wouldn't that mean it's still not entirely efficient?

Hahaha, I was actually planning to copy it but I got ADHD sooo... I just slammed it out. \° - °/ (haha, I don't use emoji's that much on computer)

I don't get why it got caught though, Phil's kind of agressive on me.. I mentioned Crimson (you-know-what) without any actually appearing, and used some synonyms for monster and creature..

Hear yea hear yea, here's the N e W s!

[Announcement]

Uhhh I might post a new screenshot let's see let me find it

[Question Corner]

@Fairydragon As far as I'm aware, an email was always required for sign-up. If you somehow didn't use an email or there was a time when email wasn't required, that could very well be the issue. Do you have an idea of what email you would have used? Have you tried logging in on a different browser or in an incognito/private mode? My attempts to fix this came up as fails all around.

@Legacy Nice to meet you too! Hope you enjoy your stay! I see you've met Phil.

I don't have the ability (yet) to decide which posts make it through the filter and which don't. It's all done separate from me, unfortunately.

For your prologue, I think it was references to guns that caught it. Non-fantasy weapons (aka modern weaponry) like that gets caught more easily than swords, magic, etc. that are typically used in fantasy stories. Although you barely even mentioned guns, you mostly just implied the act of hunting. Sigh... I'm sorry you had to have this first "my post got caught for no reason" experience :(

@Astra Did it go through today? For some reason there are sometimes like 2 or 3 signatures every few weeks that get sent to me to approve, like a weird vestige of the old system where we mods approved everything. Sometimes they vanish like the filter approved them, but sometimes they don't. Anyways, I officially approved it.

@Lupa Other than cached pages or what Ishmael suggested unfortunately no, or at least no way I'm familiar with. Is there a specific thread you're looking for? I can try to find it.

@Nightwolf Glad it went through, albeit very late. I like your Tae quote ;)

@Fallon I think I found the post you're mentioning. We have to be pretty strict about romance and kissing even in RPs/stories, so stories with romantic scenes have a higher chance of being filtered. Try cutting out some of that content. I hope you understand why we have to be tough on that kind of content specifically, it's really easy for it to be abused.

@Galaxian It is mostly the stuff about exploding/blowing up. I'm not sure if they're exploding with emotions or characters are physically exploding, but it's definitely those final three paragraphs that are causing the hang up.

@Emma I like Blank Space. What's yours? You can tell they're online andddddd.....that's it, for now at least :P We'll probably do more interesting things with the friend list in our new game. Post edits are tough, they would need to be resent through the filter as even a little change like one letter could completely change a word to being inappropriate. It's not impossible that we would add it at some point, and we've talked about it, but it wouldn't happen in the near future.

@Atlas I can see all the posts in the filter ^_^ Ban folks, unban folks, read your minds (jk jk)

As for your email, not sure. I assume it means you can't create any new accounts.

@Potatochipmaster20 aka Master of Potatoism I only support the brussels sprout legion. They are completely neutral in all of this.

@Ishmael We did a while back, but nothing recent. Did you notice it being extra rough this weekend? I feel like the number of people asking me about posts not going through is more than usual at least.

@Night Probably some of the gun references caught it. If you try cutting some mentions out, it's more likely to pass. I know one version of your chap 3 went though so it's annoying that your edited version didn't. What are we promoting, grammar mistakes? Ha. You can also just try again and see what happens.

[Forum Prompts]

In a world where dinosaurs still roam the land, you are a Dino Wrangler. You have a special sense where you can't talk to the dinos, but you can feel how they're feeling so you always know if they're anxious, happy, upset. This ability has made you much sought by Dino Trainers both good and nefarious.

[Warnings]

Private threads. I've seen this become something of a larger debate among a lot of people lately, and I see posts that ignore privacy get reported somewhat often, so I want to clarify my stance on this.

I picture the forum like a bunch of folks in a coffee shop. A private thread is two (or more) people sitting together wanting to have a private conversation.

-Can they be overheard by other people? Yes. You should always keep in mind that this is a public place, and anyone can read what you write. You might hope people are respectful and not do this, but you can't count on it. Especially if someone is not a part of our community and just ended up on the forums by accident, they have no reason to respect thread privacy. This is why our rules about personal information are so strict.

-Can someone decide to sit down next to the people having a private conversation, and interrupt it? Also yes. Depending on the person and their relationship to the folks having a private conversation, this can:
1. not matter/be a joke and they leave on their own or join the convo
2. be considered annoying/rude and they can be asked to leave
3. be harassment

There are no rules about interrupting a private conversation, so I won't step into situations 1. and 2. If someone is being annoying or rude, you can tell them to stop and/or move to a different thread, just like if someone were being annoying in the physical world. One nice perk of the digital world is you can ignore people more easily, the best thing you can do to stop someone from bothering you is to ignore them and not give a reaction.

It becomes harassment when a person has pattern of disrespecting you or others. This can include: following you around in many of your threads, continuously degrading or making fun of you, and not listening when you say stop. Harassment is against the forum rules and this is when I will take action.

@becky, I figured out the problem (Actually two) and concluded that I had to put advancement on that fanfic on hold, because there would be much more action-packed gun references in the future, and until the filter is relaxed, or I make a complete overhaul of the plot, basically removing all the action, I won't be resuming it. but! FWRP may be on the way soon!

Yeah, it's been particularly rough, at least for me. I'm not sure if it was what I was trying to put through, but one of my POVs took eight attempts to post. I don't feel like it was a content issue, per se, because I've had longer posts go through with more mentions of potentially blockable stuff in the past.
My internet connection has been on the fritz lately as well, and while that may have caused some of my issues I've also noticed other people are having the same issues as myself as well.
